What are you proud of?

It's human nature: we love to admire the work of our hands. Praise is a great motivator, and the older we get, the more we struggle to earn it even from the worst sources. As Christians we try to curry God's favor the same way, eagerly waving our works before Him, shouting our successes even from our knees. Jesus knew this natural weakness and warned us against it. He said, "don't rejoice because the spirits are subject to you, rejoice because your name is written in heaven." In other words, it's not what you do or even who you know, but Who knows you. Our salvation, the biggest source of joy in our life, was accomplished by God. His hand alone lifts us up and readies us for the work in His fields. We must learn to let the awesome gift of His love and mercy be all that we take pride in. It must be enough that we are loved by an almighty God. Then and only then, will our work be pleasing to Him, when we acknowledge the root of all our energy, our skill, our love and our joy: Him.

Happy to share the work

As laborers in Your vineyard,
Lord, send them out to be
Content to bear the burden
Of weary days for Thee.
To ask no other wages
When You shall call them home
Than to have shared the labor
Which makes Your kingdom come.
